

TRADING JOURNAL

Brett Ryan

Trade log — July 2026

MGC · MNQ — micro futures

$50,000 ACCOUNT · $100 MAX LOSS PER DAY

CONTENTS

01	Trade 0001	3
	MGC Micro Gold — Short

02	Trade 0002	4
	MNQ Micro Nasdaq — Long

TRADE 0001

MGC Micro Gold — Short

29 July 2026 · 01:45 – 01:50

ENTRY

4,022.00

EXIT

4,022.50

STOP

4,026.20

TARGET

4,012.90

WHY I TOOK IT

Liquidity grab short. The 01:20 candle spiked to 4,030.30, took the liquidity above the highs, then closed straight back under the descending trendline off the 23:00 high. Shorted the retest at 4,022.

WHY I EXITED

Coming up on the 1-hour close and the 5-minute wasn't driving into it. Closed by hand rather than wait for the stop or target.

P&L

-$19.80

NOTES

- Stop was never hit — price got no closer than 4,025.70.
- Target was hit about 15 minutes later, on the very next candle.
- Held to plan this was +$268.20.

MNQ Micro Nasdaq — Long

29 July 2026 · 23:12 – 23:15

ENTRY

27,600.38

EXIT

27,572.75

STOP

27,565.00

TARGET

27,654.75

WHY I TOOK IT

Anticipating a morning star reversal on the 30-minute after the drop off 27,800. Entry was a buy stop above price at 27,600.25 — wanted the push to come to me rather than catching the knife.

WHY I EXITED

Closed by hand on the way through, above the stop, rather than wait to see if it held.

P&L

-$112.50

NOTES

- Exited 7.75 points above the stop — price went on to trade through it.
- Getting out early saved roughly $31 compared to letting the stop hit.
- Dipped a further ~150 points before the reversal came, then ran well past target.